| Conversation Round 1 Subject: Environmental sustainability in India: How will it be a decade from now? Can we use the pause that the pandemic brought into our lives for doing different things, or doing things differently? The last two years have brought several lessons for us, if we will see them. One thing is clear – that we have to do more than what we have been doing. Less complacency, more actions, by more and more of us! Points to ponder upon <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ✓ The policies are only going to get stringent from here and unsustainable practices may very well come to be equated with unlawfulness. ✓ Some of the largest business conglomerates including the fossil fuels and mining giants have committed to net-zero carbon, water neutrality, zero waste, circular economy... how much of it is possible and how will it be made so? Panellists <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sumit Sharma Programme lead, United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) • Adwait Joshi CEO, Clean Energy Access • Vivek Prakash Vice president, CSR, Jubilant Ingrevia Ltd • Prof. PK Biswas Dean, IMT Ghaziabad Ex-director, Indian Institute of Forest Management • Brig. Rajiv Williams Corporate head CSR, Jindal Stainless Limited Moderator | 11:21 am–12:10 pm Open Q&A 12:11 pm–12:30 pm |

| Conversation Round 2 The Coffee for Cause community to ponder upon the following thought (through sharing ideas and experiences, exchanging notes and realisations): Subject “I love shopping. I love travelling.” Now, tell me how to do these with minimal impact on the environment. Finding a sustainable or ethical alternative to everything you buy or do is, without doubt, a daunting one. There’s the prospect of not being able to buy the brands you’re used to and limiting your choices, not to mention having to spend a little more than you would normally. Moderator: Ranjan Rayna, chief strategist, CauseBecause | 12:31 pm–01:30 pm |
